BOUFFANT-STYLE SURGICAL SCRUB CAP

Here are instructions on how to make a scrub hat for someone who has medium to long hair. If you leave off the ties, it can be used by someone who doesn't need to hold their hair back.

Supplies:
- Lightweight fabric--try to avoid heavy fabrics because they will be hot
- 1/4” elastic (I sew the elastic inside the band and adjust it later, so I cut a piece the length of the back band, or a little smaller and stretch it as I sew)
Pattern:
Make the pattern for the circle as a half-circle, or you can also make it a quarter circle by folding the fabric and marking an arc that is 10.5".

- Piece #1--back band: 10.5" x 2"- cut on the fold (cut piece will be 21" x 2")
- Piece #2--front band: 6.5" - the center (on fold) will be 4" and the end/sides will be 2"--taper the piece slightly (final length will be 13")
- Piece #3 - hat: 21" diameter circle
- Piece #4 1- ties (pattern piece not shown): 17" x 1.25"

Instructions:
1. After pieces are cut, fold the circle in half and place a pin at each side of the fold to mark them. Fold in half the other direction to mark the other side.

2. Start at the top (whatever pin you want to be at the top) and make pleats from the top center to the pin on the left and from the top center to the pin on the right. When you are finished with the pleats, half the circle will have pleats. *You can skip this portion and gather it, but I prefer the way the pleats look.
3. When doing the pleats, I did the left side one direction and the right side the other direction.

4. Rotate the hat and add pleats starting at the pin at the bottom--put 3-4 pleats on each side. You can add 1 or 2 more on each side if needed. Make sure you are still working on the same side of the fabric as you did when you put the top pleats in (outside of hat vs. inside of hat).

5. Stitch the pleats down (close to the edge) so you can remove the pins.

6. Fold the back band in half and iron. Find the center of the strip and put a buttonhole on one side (this will be used to adjust the elastic in the back).

7. Now you will be stitching the front band to the back band. At this time, you will also be attaching the elastic and the ties to the bands (if you are adding the ties).
   a. Put the right sides of the front/back band together--pin on each side.
   b. Place one end of the elastic on the top of one half of the back band and sandwich one of the ties between the front/back band on the other side.
   c. Backstitch over the elastic and tie several times to make it secure.
   d. Repeat on the other side--make sure the elastic is not twisted. Use a piece of elastic that is about the same length as the back band (will adjust it at the end).

8. Fold the front band in half the long way and press down.

9. Fold band in half the other direction to find the center and match that to the center pleat on the front of the hat--pin in place.

10. Pin the rest of the front band to the hat.

11. Match up the buttonhole on the back band (it should be in the center) to the center pleat and pin.

12. Pin the rest of the back band to the hat. If necessary, add another pleat on each side or take out one of the pleats on each side so the band matches the circumference of the hat.
13. Sew the band to the hat and then either zig-zag or serge the edges.

14. Use the buttonhole on the back band to take the elastic out and adjust it so the hat fits the wearer’s head. You can cut the elastic and sew it back together so it fits, or tie a knot in it (pull it tight so it stays) and tuck the knot back through the buttonhole. (I make these and then have the wearer decide how tight they want the elastic— they wear them for long periods of time, so don’t want them to be tight and uncomfortable).
